FUND COMMENTS

The fund declined by -1.14% percent for the month of February taking year to date returns to 9.08%.

The renewed fear of inflation has returned to the markets on the back of robust economic data. As a result, traders bets for higher and for longer monetary policy pushed yields higher and pressured the equity markets lower.

The S&P rally peaked in February, falling 2.61% MoM, while 10Y UST yields rose 40bps from January to end the month at 3.92%. The labour market, closely watched by the US Fed on planning future policy, remained tight with the unemployment rate reaching a low of 3.4% and with non-Farm payrolls adding half a million jobs i.e., far surpassing the consensus estimates of 190,000. The Fed, in its march against inflation, proceeded with the hike of 0.25% to take the Fed Funds Rate to 4.5-4.75%.

From the positions in the fund, tech names were lower, as were some banks and, also, high beta names such as travel, and doll ar denominated oil majors.
